

REFERENCES

- [1] Avron Barr and Shirly Tesler, Developing Sri Lanka's software industry, Report to the world bank, 2nd July 2002
- [2] Rising Demand: The increasing demand for IT workers spells a challenging opportunity for IT industry, Sri Lanka Information and Communication Technology Agency, April 2007
- [3] Sushantha Mohaptra, Sustaining economic development: Contributions from and challenges to India's software industry, School of Public Policy, Georgia institute of technology, May 2003
- [4] Brian Nicolson and Sundeep Sahay, Building Iran's software industry: An assessment plan and prospects, The electronic journal on information systems in developing countries, School of accounting and finance, University of Manchester, UK, 2003
- [5] Ted Tschang, The basic characteristics of skills and organizational capabilities in the Indian software industry, Asian Development Bank Institute, Tokyo, Japan, February 2001
- [6] V.P. Kharbanda and Yogesh Suman, Chinese initiatives in the software industry – Quest to leap, Current Science, Vol 83, National Institute of Science, Technology and Development studies, New Delhi, India, December 2002
- [7] Avron Barr, Shirly Tesler and Nagy Hanna, National software industry development, Considerations for government planners, The electronic journal on Information Systems in developing countries, 2003

- [8] Daniel Chudnovsky and Andress Lopez, The software industry and information services in Argentina, The pros and cons of an inward oriented development strategy, Helsinki, Finland, May 2002
- [9] Laura E. Martinez Solano, Majella Giblin and Edel Walshe, Knowledge intensive service activities in the Irish software industry, Centre of innovation and structural change, NUI Norway, Ireland, February 2005
- [10] Mihaiela Grundy and Richard Heeks, Rumania's hardware and software industry: Building IT policy and capabilities in a transitional economy, Institute of Policy and Management, University of Manchester, UK, June 1998
- [11] Arish Arora and Suma Athreye, The software industry and India's economic development, Carnegie Mellon university, Pittsburgh, USA, April 2001
- [12] Luciana Sa, Sabrina Marczak, Jorge Audy and Jairo Avritchir, Effectiveness of incentives to attract IT investments: A Brazilian case, The electronic journal on information systems in developing countries, 2003
- [13] Richard Heeks, Development Informatics, Software strategies in developing countries, 1999
- [14] Umesh Bellur, An academic perspective on globalization in the software industry, School of information technology, IIT, Bombay, India, 2006
- [15] Antonio J. Junqueira Botelho, Gaincarlo Stefanuto and Fransisco Veloso, The The Brazillian software industry, Carnegie Mellon University, September 2003
- [16] Raul Gouvea, The Transnationalization of brazil's software industry, Trans Corporations, Vol 16, April 2007

- [17] Arish Arora and Alfonso Gambardella, The globalization of the software industry: The prospects and opportunities for developed and developing countries, National Bureau of economic research, 1050, Massachusetts Avenue, Cambridge, June 2004
- [18] Mohd Zaidi Abd Rozan, Yoshiki Mikami, Ahmad Zaki Abu Bakar and Om Vikas, Multinational ICT education: Language observatory as a monitoring instrument, South East Asia Regional Computer Confederation, Nagoka University of Technology, Japan, 2005
- [19] Pradosh Nath, Indian software industry: Distortions, consolidations of gains, Center culture, media and governance, Jamila Millia Islamia, New Delhi, June 2008
- [20] P.J Sheehan and Galina Tikhomirova, Diverse paths industrial development in East Asia and Asean, Centre of Strategic Economic Studies, Victoria University, Melbourne, August 1996
- [21] Mingzhi Li and Ming Gao, Strategies for developing China's software industry, Information Technology and International Development, Vol 1, School of Economics and Management, Beijing, China, 2003
- [22] Xielin Liu, Technology policy, human resources and Chinese software industry, National research center for science and technology for development, 2003
- [23] Richard Heeks and Brian Nicolson, Software exports success factors and strategies in developing and transitional economies, Institute of development policy and management, University of Manchester, Manchester, 2002
- [24] S.C. Bhatnagar and Rekha Jain, A realistic assessment of India's software exports: Some implications for the future strategy, Vikalpa, Vol 16, September 1991

- [25] Emmy G. Gengler, Ukrain's criteria for the success of the software industry, The electronic journal on information systems in developing countries, 2003
- [26] Tarek Abou Ali and Khaled Wehba, Assessment of Egyptian software export capabilities using a System Dynamic Approach, Masters of Business Administration, Maastricht School of Management, Egypt, July 2005
- [27] Matthew Ogonowski, US policy and the international distribution of computer encryption technology: The conflict between national technology and international trade, The Georgetown Compass of International Affairs, 1997
- [28] Erran Carmel, The new software exporting nations: impact on national well being resulting from their software exporting industries, American university, Washington, USA, 2003
- [29] Asheref Illiyan, Performance challenges and opportunities of Indian software export, Journal of theoretical and applied information technology, Department of Economics, Jamia Millia Islamia University, New Delhi, India, 2008
- [30] Robin Mansell, The information society and ICT policy: A critique of mainstream vision and alternative research framework, Department of Media and Communications, London School of Economics and Political Science, UK, July 2009
- [31] Jef Peeraer, Tran Nu Mai Thy and Tran Thi Thai Ha, Policy analysis and integration of ICT in education in Vietnam, Translation and implementation in teacher education, Flemish Association for Development Cooperation and Technical Assistance Vietnam, Hanoi, Vietnam, 2009
- [32] Walt Scacchi, Undersatanding the social, technological and public policy implications of Open Source software development, Institute for Software Research, University of California, Irvine, August 2002

- [33] Jae Eun Chung and Jade Miller, Open Source Software Policy and the MNC: The case of Brazil, Annenburg school of communication, University of Southern California, Los Angeles, 2007
- [34] N.V. Varghese, Globalization, economic development and national strategies for higher education development, International institute for educational planning, Paris, France, 2009
- [35] Robert C. Fonow, The new reality of international telecommunications strategy, Sector for Technology and Security Policy, National Defense University, January 2006
- [36] Kari Ronnoko, Jeff Winter, and Mats Hallman, Reporting user experience through usability with the telecommunication industry, 2008
- [37] Arish Arora, V.S. Arunachalam, Jai Asundi and Ronald Fernandes, The Indian software industry, The H. John Heinz III Schools of Public Policy and Management
- [38] Shawn O'Donnell, An economic map of the internet, MIT Programme on Internet and telecoms convergence, Fletcher School of Law Diplomacy, Tufts University, Alexandria, September 2002
- [39] Ram D. Gopal and G. Lawrence Sanders, International software piracy: Analysis of Key issues and impacts, Department of Operations and Information Management, University of Connecticut, Information Systems Research, Vol 9, December 1998
- [40] James Bessen and Robert M. Hunt, The software patent experiment, Research on Innovation and Boston University, March 2004
- [41] Saleh Al Sharari, Intellectual property rights legislation and computer software piracy in Jordan, Journal of Social Sciences, Al Husain Bin Talal University, 2006

- [42] A. Graham Peace, Dennis S. Galletta and James Y.L Thong, Software piracy in the workplace: A model and empirical test, Journal of Management Information Systems, Vol 20, 2003
- [43] Felix Oberholzer and Koleman Strumph, The effect of file sharing on record sales, An empirical analysis, Harvard Business School, March 2004
- [44] Lisa H. Wilson, Software development industry study, January 2001
- [45] Science and Technology innovation in Sri Lanka, Kuala Lumpur, November 2007
- [46] Uma Sekaran, Research Methods for Business, A Skill Building Approach, 4th Ed., Southern Illinois University of Carbondale, 2008
- [47] Zipora Libman, Integrating real life data analysis in teaching descriptive statistics: A constructive approach, Journal of statistics education, Vol 18, 2010
- [48] I.H Salgado Ugarte, M.Shimizu, T.Taniuchi and K.Matsushita, University of Tokyo, Faculty of Agriculture, Department of Fisheries, Japan, Asian Fisheries Society, 2000
- [49] Christian L. Dunis and Mark Williams, Application of Advanced Regression Analysis for Trading and Investments, John Wiley and Sons Ltd., 2003

University of Moratuwa, Sri Lanka
Electronic Theses & Dissertations
www.lib.mrt.ac.lk