

EDUCATION AND EDUCATIONAL SPACES

Sumant H. Wandrekar

The main key to progress is education. It consolidates the foundation of future growth, which decides the destiny of the student. Overall development of students' character building through development of their mind, physic and spirit is most important. Therefore, it is necessary to provide clean, healthy, pleasant, encouraging and stimulating learning environment.

The test of good education lies in the quality of the end product. It is evolved from creative and innovative approach to teaching adopted in the educational system. Innovative experiments in learning that have potential to deliver the "Learning Guarantee" should be actively encouraged, intensively pursued and regularly tested. The courses offered by the university should meet expected professional standards with considerable inputs in technology and professional practice.
